

Michael Brady

bradym@wsu.edu

509-335-7553

School of Economic Sciences and IMPACT Center WSU

- Research focus: Agricultural economics with a focus on land values, ownership, and use.
- Undergraduate degree in biology (so I enjoy using some of that old knowledge on multi-disciplinary research).
- Previous experience at Economic Research Service, USDA
 - Economic models of global land use
 - Major uses of land in the United States
- Involved in the Washington state water supply and demand forecast.
- Teach Farm and Ranch Management to a diverse range of non-economics majors at WSU. Hope to find a connection between this research and course work.